All because of the red full moon

Authors note:

I recently got a review that accused me of copy-write. I would like to say that I in no way copied any story on this site. If my thoughts resemble a Story you have read I apologize. As for this story and title it was my own creation. I thank you for taking the time to write me with your complaints and wish to inform the readers who enjoy this story that it will be taken down and rewritten. I have found some major character issues with Sango and Sesshomaru. A friend of mine has also pointed it out to me lol. All because of the red moon will be posted after revising. I apologize for the mistakes and any Misunderstandings. To the guest who accused me of copy-write I advise you go back to your friends writing and reread. Copy-write is when you take a piece of writing and rewrite it word for word. I will also look for this story you proclaim has the same name and read it myself thank you for the suggestion on his/her story and i will do my best to leave reviews with my honest opinion.

Caremel: Thank you for your support and I will do my best to get this story back up after the corrections.
